

WIKIPEDIA The Free Encyclopedia

- Main page
Contents
Featured content
Current events
Random article
Donate

- Interaction
About Wikipedia
Community portal
Recent changes
Contact Wikipedia
Help

- Toolbox
Print/export

- Languages
Simple English
العربية
Bahasa Indonesia
Bahasa Melayu
Български
Català
Česky
Dansk
Deutsch
Eesti
Ελληνικά

New features Log in / create account

Main Page Discussion

Read View source View history

Search

"I create Wikipedia and I need your help."

Watch the video.

Today's featured article

The Moors murders were carried out by Ian Brady and Myra Hindley between July 1963 and October 1965, in and around what is now Greater Manchester, England. The victims were five children aged between 10 and 17, and at least four of them were sexually assaulted. The murders are so named because two of the victims were discovered in graves dug on Saddleworth Moor (pictured); a third grave was discovered on the moor in 1987, more than 20 years after Brady and Hindley's trial in 1966. The body of a fourth victim is also suspected to be buried there, but as of 2010, it remains undiscovered. The investigation was reopened in 1985, after Brady was reported in the press as having confessed to two of the murders. Brady and Hindley were taken separately to Saddleworth Moor to assist the police in their search for the graves, both by then having confessed to the additional murders. Hindley later made several appeals against her life sentence, claiming she was a reformed woman and no longer a danger to society, but she was never released. She later died in 2002 at the age of 60. Brady was declared criminally insane in 1985, since when he has been confined in the high-security Ashworth Hospital. He has made it clear that he never wants to be released, and has repeatedly asked that he be allowed to die. (more...)

Recently featured: 2009 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup Final - Diocletian - Liberty Bell

Archive - By email - More featured articles...

Did you know...

In the news

- Soviet politician Gennady Yanayev, leader of the 1991 Soviet coup d'état attempt, dies at the age of 73.
A U.S. federal court sentences alleged al-Qaeda operative Aafia Siddiqui (facial composite pictured) to 86 years' imprisonment for attempted murder, resulting in protests in Pakistan.
Typhoon Fanapi makes landfall in Mainland China after devastating Taiwan, leaving at least 72 people dead.
The discovery of Kosmoceratops, a genus of ceratopsian dinosaur that lived during the Late Cretaceous period, is announced.
Italian authorities seize €23 million in assets from the Institute for Works of Religion in Vatican City amidst an investigation of possible money laundering.
The King's Speech, a historical drama film directed by Tom Hooper, wins the People's Choice Award at the 2010 Toronto International Film Festival.

Wikinews - Recent deaths - More current events...

On this day...

September 27: Meskel in Ethiopia and Eritrea; World Tourism Day

1777 - American Revolutionary War

WIKIPEDIA The Free Encyclopedia

- Main page
- Contents
- Featured content
- Current events
- Random article
- Donate

Interaction

- About Wikipedia
- Community portal
- Recent changes
- Contact Wikipedia
- Help

Toolbox

Print/export

Languages

- Simple English
- العربية
- Bahasa Indonesia
- Bahasa Melayu
- Български
- Català
- Česky
- Dansk
- Deutsch
- Eesti
- Ελληνικά

New features Log in / create account

Main Page Discussion

Read View source View history

Search

"We create Wikipedia and we need your help."

Watch the video.

Today's featured article

The Moors murders were carried out by Ian Brady and Myra Hindley between July 1963 and October 1965, in and around what is now Greater Manchester, England. The victims were five children aged between 10 and 17, and at least four of them were sexually assaulted. The murders are so named because two of the victims were discovered in graves dug on Saddleworth Moor (pictured); a third grave was discovered on the moor in 1987, more than 20 years after Brady and Hindley's trial in 1966. The body of a fourth victim is also suspected to be buried there, but as of 2010, it remains undiscovered. The investigation was reopened in 1985, after Brady was reported in the press as having confessed to two of the murders. Brady and Hindley were taken separately to Saddleworth Moor to assist the police in their search for the graves, both by then having confessed to the additional murders. Hindley later made several appeals against her life sentence, claiming she was a reformed woman and no longer a danger to society, but she was never released. She later died in 2002 at the age of 60. Brady was declared criminally insane in 1985, since when he has been confined in the high-security Ashworth Hospital. He has made it clear that he never wants to be released, and has repeatedly asked that he be allowed to die. (more...)

Recently featured: 2009 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup Final – Diocletian – Liberty Bell

Archive – By email – More featured articles...

Did you know...

In the news

- Soviet politician Gennady Yanayev, leader of the 1991 Soviet coup d'état attempt, dies at the age of 73.
- A U.S. federal court sentences alleged al-Qaeda operative Aafia Siddiqui (facial composite pictured) to 86 years' imprisonment for attempted murder, resulting in protests in Pakistan.
- Typhoon Fanapi makes landfall in Mainland China after devastating Taiwan, leaving at least 72 people dead.
- The discovery of Kosmoceratops, a genus of ceratopsian dinosaur that lived during the Late Cretaceous period, is announced.
- Italian authorities seize €23 million in assets from the Institute for Works of Religion in Vatican City amidst an investigation of possible money laundering.
- The King's Speech, a historical drama film directed by Tom Hooper, wins the People's Choice Award at the 2010 Toronto International Film Festival.

Wikinews – Recent deaths – More current events...

On this day...

September 27: Meskel in Ethiopia and Eritrea; World Tourism Day

1777 – American Revolutionary War

WIKIPEDIA The Free Encyclopedia

- Main page
- Contents
- Featured content
- Current events
- Random article
- Donate

- Interaction
  - About Wikipedia
  - Community portal
  - Recent changes
  - Contact Wikipedia
  - Help

- Toolbox
- Print/export

- Languages
  - Simple English
  - العربية
  - Bahasa Indonesia
  - Bahasa Melayu
  - Български
  - Català
  - Česky
  - Dansk
  - Deutsch
  - Eesti
  - Ελληνικά

New features Log in / create account

Main Page Discussion

Read View source View history

Search

Who edits Wikipedia? We do. Our volunteer work is supported by your donations. Find out more.

Today's featured article

The Moors murders were carried out by Ian Brady and Myra Hindley between July 1963 and October 1965, in and around what is now Greater Manchester, England. The victims were five children aged between 10 and 17, and at least four of them were sexually assaulted. The murders are so named because two of the victims were discovered in graves dug on Saddleworth Moor (pictured); a third grave was discovered on the moor in 1987, more than 20 years after Brady and Hindley's trial in 1966. The body of a fourth victim is also suspected to be buried there, but as of 2010, it remains undiscovered. The investigation was reopened in 1985, after Brady was reported in the press as having confessed to two of the murders. Brady and Hindley were taken separately to Saddleworth Moor to assist the police in their search for the graves, both by then having confessed to the additional murders. Hindley later made several appeals against her life sentence, claiming she was a reformed woman and no longer a danger to society, but she was never released. She later died in 2002 at the age of 60. Brady was declared criminally insane in 1985, since when he has been confined in the high-security Ashworth Hospital. He has made it clear that he never wants to be released, and has repeatedly asked that he be allowed to die. (more...)

Recently featured: 2009 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup Final – Diocletian – Liberty Bell

Archive – By email – More featured articles...

Did you know...

In the news

- Soviet politician Gennady Yanayev, leader of the 1991 Soviet coup d'état attempt, dies at the age of 73.
  - A U.S. federal court sentences alleged al-Qaeda operative Aafia Siddiqui (facial composite pictured) to 86 years' imprisonment for attempted murder, resulting in protests in Pakistan.
  - Typhoon Fanapi makes landfall in Mainland China after devastating Taiwan, leaving at least 72 people dead.
  - The discovery of Kosmoceratops, a genus of ceratopsian dinosaur that lived during the Late Cretaceous period, is announced.
  - Italian authorities seize €23 million in assets from the Institute for Works of Religion in Vatican City amidst an investigation of possible money laundering.
  - The King's Speech, a historical drama film directed by Tom Hooper, wins the People's Choice Award at the 2010 Toronto International Film Festival.
- Wikinews – Recent deaths – More current events...

On this day...

September 27: Meskel in Ethiopia and Eritrea; World Tourism Day

1777 – American Revolutionary War

- Home
- FAQ
- Our projects
- News
- Press room
- Contact us
- Staff
- Wikimedia blog
- Job openings
- Local chapters
- Donate
- Support
  - Benefactors
  - Volunteering
- Corporate
- Wiki
- Print/export
- Toolbox

Written by volunteers, supported by readers like you.

Last month, more than 80,000 volunteers worked to bring Wikipedia and its sister sites to you. They bring these projects to 380,000,000 people per month, in more than 260 languages.

Not everyone wants to edit, but everyone can help.

Make your donation now

The annual fundraiser doesn't start until November. But your donation today will help us calibrate and test systems and timing so that we reach this year's goal.

Wikimedia is nonprofit and relies on your individual donations. Please make your donation now.

Select your tax-deductible gift amount:
 $35  $50  $75  $100  Other:  USD - $

Public comment
Have a thought to share with the world? Put up to 200 characters here:

Please list my name (next to my comment) on the public donor list.
 I agree to receive future Wikimedia Foundation newsletters or emails. (We will never sell or trade your information. Our privacy policy can be found here.)

Donate by credit card

Donate via PayPal

To give to a local Wikimedia chapter, click here.
If you have disabled JavaScript, please use our alternative form.

Why donate to Wikipedia?

By the volunteers who create it.

Donor comments
"A shining example of the Internet's awesome potential." — Timothy Keesey Read more.

- Home
- FAQ
- Our projects
- News
- Press room
- Contact us
- Staff
- Wikimedia blog
- Job openings
- Local chapters
- Donate

- Support
  - Benefactors
  - Volunteering
- Corporate
- Wiki
- Print/export
- Toolbox

2010 Wikipedia Fundraiser!

(Let's make it fast)

Make your donation now

The annual fundraiser doesn't start until November. But your donation today will help us calibrate and test systems and timing so that we reach this year's goal.

Wikimedia is nonprofit and relies on your individual donations. Please make your donation now.

Select your tax-deductible gift amount:

$35  $50  $75  $100  Other:

Public comment

Have a thought to share with the world? Put up to 200 characters here:

Please list my name (next to my comment) on the public donor list.

I agree to receive future Wikimedia Foundation newsletters or emails. (We will never sell or trade your information. Our privacy policy can be found here.)

To give to a local Wikimedia chapter, click here.

If you have disabled JavaScript, please use our alternative form.

Why do you give to Wikipedia?

- It's a non-profit. That's how it works.
- Keep it ad free.
- I use it everyday.
- To support the global sharing of free knowledge.
-

Donor comments

Latest: First time coming back from derby practice with nothing really hurtin' too bad. TRIUMPH! about 15 hours ago stellargirl did you know that there's a national train day? <http://www.nationaltrainday...> about 1 hour ago from web

---

---

 maxl0rd Did that hour and a half of berlin techno make me light headed, or was it something else?
about 1 hour ago from web

---

 xstine Clean = quiet.